Dr. John E. Warren

PUBLISHER, THE SAN DIEGO VOICE & VIEWPOINT NEWSPAPER

Publisher's Welcome

Dear Honored Guest,

We would like to extend our appreciation for your presence tonight as we continue the tradition of the Black Press here in San Diego as the San Diego Voice & Viewpoint Newspaper. Tonight we celebrate 62 years of continuous service to the San Diego Community.

During its nearly 62 years of publication, the San Diego Voice & Viewpoint Newspaper has served all of San Diego County in its 89 zip codes, 18 cities and unincorporated areas as a legally adjudicated newspaper of paid general circulation. Our clients have been and remain local, state and national. While the Voice & Viewpoint has primarily served San Diego's African American and African communities, the newspaper is inclusive of national and international events affecting our communities. Our continued evolution includes the launch of our mobile app and the distribution of our original, locally-written articles and editorials on a national scale.

In the course of the pandemic, we have partnered with the San Diego County Health and Human Services Agency to provide weekly, online, free distribution of The Voice & Viewpoint and free copies of the paper in food distribution packages throughout the community on a weekly basis. These thousands of copies have carried the County Health Ordinances and vital information to communities that lack internet access. As evidenced by our children trying to find Wi-Fi availability while schools were closed, many of our communities have internet access lower than 50%. We have also given cash donations to several community organizations, helping to fund stipends for volunteers working at food distribution sites throughout our communities.

As we celebrate Black History Month, we must remember that there was a time when we were not allowed to read. Today, so many of us often don't bother to read. We must reignite our hunger for knowledge, and not forget that others are making plans that often are designed to change our realities. We must remember that we are still in a struggle for liberty, freedom, and equality and that all of us are yoked together, regardless of whether we acknowledge that fact.

Let us not forget that we need each other. We are committed to being the voice of those of us who can't speak for themselves, and a partner to the leaders among us, ensuring our voices will be heard and that our presence will not be ignored. If you are silent when they come for others, there will be no one to speak out when they come for you.

Thank you for sharing your time with us and may God bless you in this new year.

Latanya West

MANAGING EDITOR, THE SAN DIEGO VOICE & VIEWPOINT NEWSPAPER

About The Managing Editor

Since 2018, Latanya West has brought a unique set of skills to the San Diego Voice & Viewpoint Newspaper as Managing Editor. She is a U.C. Berkeley graduate with a degree in Social Science with an emphasis in Media and Society. She earned a Masters Degree in Education from Nova Southeastern University after completing graduate level coursework at Cal State LA. She spent a life-changing year in Greece as an American Foreign Service (AFS) exchange student and counts Greek as a second language.

She began her professional career in the entertainment industry with NBC Studios, contributing publicity and marketing collateral to national media campaigns for NBC Media Relations and KNBC News. In addition, she was an Assistant Talent Coordinator for NBC's 'The Tonight Show' and the NAACP Image Awards.

Latanya taught elementary and middle school for 10 years in the Pasadena Unified School District. She later joined McGraw Hill Education as a curriculum sales consultant providing regional in-service curriculum trainings and sales presentations to teachers and school administrators across California, including the California State Board of Education's Curriculum Adoption Committee.

In 2012 she established WestWordFlow, LLC as a commercial copywriting business, writing articles, grants, curriculum, workshops and marketing materials for select socially conscious businesses and nonprofits. Her clients have included San Diego State's School of Social Work, San Francisco's Department of Youth and Family Services, Rosetta Stone's Lingual Learning, SAGE Publications, LA Parent Magazine, and the San Diego Training Center. She has a passion for service, and served several years as a Board Member and former Executive Boardmember for the arts and education nonprofit, Playwrights Project. She contributed articles to the San Diego Voice & Viewpoint before agreeing to serve in a consulting role as Managing Editor of the Voice & Viewpoint in 2018.

Latanya is honored to be Managing Editor, and is committed to ensuring that the community's stories and voices are heard in a way that is appropriate, inspiring and deeply respectful of our rich heritage and enduring achievements now and into the future.

Special Guests

Gala 2022

Invocation

Pastor Nate Stewart

In 1997, Pastor Nate accepted his call to full-time ministry at The Florida School of Preaching. He moved on to Christian Bible College where he received his Bachelor of Theology Degree and Master of Ministry Degree in Christian Counseling.

In 2013, Pastor Nate relocated to Cleveland, Ohio, to serve as the Executive Director of Ministry at New Community Bible Fellowship. Two years later, he returned to his home state to serve as the Executive Pastor at The House of Hope Atlanta and The House of Hope Macon.

In 2017, he received a call from the Lord to serve as the Senior Pastor of Greater Life Church. After much prayer he accepted the offer and moved his family to San Diego. Since the arrival of Pastor Nate, the church has seen tremendous growth. They were recognized as one of the top 100 US Emerging Churches to Watch by Outreach Magazine.

Pastor Nate's daily desire is to serve his sheep with integrity. His guiding scripture for life and ministry is Proverbs 3:5-6, "Trust In the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways submit to Him, and He will make your paths straight."

Entertainment

Karen Briggs • MASTER VIOLINIST

Karen took up the violin at age 12 and perfected her own signature sound over the ensuing years. She earned international recognition, alongside Yanni, the Greek composer and musician, playing at the Taj Mahal and the Great Sphinx of Giza, to name a few. Karen is referred to as the "Lady In Red" for her fiery solos during her televised performance before an international audience at "Live at the Acropolis" during her 13 year tenure with that group of musicians. As a solo artist, her extraordinary versatility spans a multitude of genres ranging from Gospel, Funk, R&B, Latin, New Age, Rock, Hip Hop, Middle Eastern and Jazz. Her distinguished career has taken her to prestigious places such as Carnegie Hall, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts and with world-renowned artists, including Dave Grusin, Diana Ross, the Wu Tang Clan, En Vogue and Chaka Kahn. One of her most beloved supporters is Dr. John E. Warren.

THE UNSUNG HERO AWARD

This year's honoree is representative of the many men and women, who like them, have worked tirelessly and weekly in the chain of those delivering food and services to so many affected by the COVID-19 pandemic.

UNSUNG HERO AWARD

Laila Aziz

• PILLARS OF THE COMMUNITY

Laila Aziz was born in Long Island, New York in 1975. At the age of ten years old she moved to Southeastern San Diego and attended Valencia Park Elementary School. Laila later attended O'Farrell (formerly known as the School of Performing Arts SCPA), Morse High and graduated from Serra High School in 1993.

In 1994, while attending Grambling State University, her significant other was murdered in Sea Breeze Apartments, formerly known as Bay Vista Apartments. This trauma and senseless violence focused her passion and attention in working deeply within the Southeast Community to focus on intervention and prevention.

Leveraging Funds, Partnership Development and Fundraising — In 2001, Ms. Aziz was hired by Metro United Methodist Urban Ministry as a Youth Advocate. In 2010, she researched, created partnerships and wrote the successfully funded Department of Labor Civic Justice grant for 1.5 million dollars. Since this time, she has fundraised over 5 million dollars in grants which assisted the Metro organization in becoming a national organization with sites and affiliates in: Philadelphia, PA; Atlanta, GA; Richmond, VA; Tucson, AZ; and San Diego, CA. Laila's funding expertise has been around adult and youth offender programs, mentoring and educational programs.

Activism and Advocacy — While working within the California prisons and federal prisons Ms. Aziz began to see policy and legislative issues which prohibited the success of returning citizens and decreased public safety. She increased her advocacy from local stakeholder tables, such as the San Diego County Department of Probation and the Re-entry Roundtable, to working with organizations such as the Fair Youth Sentencing Project to increase rehabilitation, transitional support, trauma informed care, education and employment.

Ms. Aziz was one of the primary stakeholders in the implementation of AB-109 which shifted nonviolent offenders to county jails.

She also began working with the Human Rights Coalition, specifically the Fair Sentencing Project led by Elizabeth Calvin. She joined the board of Pillars of the Community in 2017, under the direction of Khaled Alexander. In 2016, Aziz also served on the board of the Million for Prisoners Human Rights March which successfully marched on Washington DC, August 19th 2017, demanding the removal of the thirteenth amendment slavery exception clause from the constitution. Laila Aziz is also a policy member of Mom's of Black Boys (MOBB) United, an organization consisting of 180,000 diverse mothers of Black boys. She has participated in researching and drafting national policy statements through her work with MOBB.

Tasha Williamson

• EXHALING INJUSTICE

Tasha Williamson is a mom of four, a change agent, activist, and powerful advocate of justice against white power in police departments. She is the CEO of Exhaling Injustice and Co-Founder of Hotel Vouchers 4 All and San Diego Compassion Project. In early 2020, she ran for Mayor of San Diego winning over 25,000 votes. Tasha Williamson has fought in courts, in city/county board meetings, and at police divisions to expose their corrupt systems. Tasha has long used the power of her voice to ensure the betterment of the lives of those facing disparities. For the past 20 years and alongside collaborative groups over 200,000 people have been assisted in improving their social determinants of health. She continues to collaborate with community members and organizations to demand accountability from institutions and people that hold power and make her work necessary.

Our Story

A Brief History of the San Diego Voice & Viewpoint

The San Diego Voice and Viewpoint Newspaper is an award winning newspaper that reaches, informs and motivates its readers, and has a distinguished record of public service and immeasurable contributions to the advancement of African-American communities in San Diego County.

Established by Dr. Al Graham in 1960, the original San Diego Voice was acquired by the Chula Vista Star News after one year of operation and then, in the late 1960s it was sold to Mr. Earl Davis who created The San Diego Voice & Viewpoint. Mr. Davis and his family operated The San Diego Voice and Viewpoint from 1969 to 1985, when Davis sold the newspaper to Mr. William Thompson, a local developer, businessman, and civic leader. Upon Thompson's death, the newspaper was purchased by Warren Communications, Inc. a California business corporation operated by Dr. and Mrs. John and Gerri Warren.

The Warrens, like the Davis family, treated The San Diego Voice and Viewpoint as a family project and made an early decision to make the newspaper inclusive of San Diego's African American communities. Throughout its history, The San Diego Voice and Viewpoint has evolved from a tabloid to a broadsheet format, and today, it publishes community, local, state, national, and international news affecting and concerning African Americans and is lauded as San Diego's largest African-American publication, reaching all 89 zip codes, seventeen cities and unincorporated areas. In its continual efforts to bring together the communities it serves, The San Diego Voice and Viewpoint Newspaper and its publishers contributed to the creation of the San Diego Black Chamber of Commerce, and the Gold Coast Classic Annual events.

The San Diego Voice and Viewpoint is a respected voice in San Diego's African-American communities and a valuable supporter of community projects and programs, and has maintained its reputation for adhering to and never compromising the principles of journalism.

The Warrens' acquisition of the Voice & Viewpoint in 1987

THE GOOD SHEPHERD AWARD

This year's award is given for the outstanding and consistent work of sharing the gospel in word and deed during the demanding times of the pandemic and beyond.

GOOD SHEPHERD AWARD

Bishop A.B. Vines, Sr.

• SENIOR PASTOR, NEW SEASONS CHURCH

For over fifteen years, Bishop A.B. Vines, Sr. has served as Senior Pastor of New Seasons Church, on multiple campuses throughout San Diego, California. Under Bishop Vines' leadership, New Seasons Church has become one of the most unique congregations in the San Diego area, developing from a small African American church of 67 members to a congregation of over 1,800 members spanning over 4 different campuses in San Diego, California; Sacramento, California; and Albany, Georgia; with one campus serving in Arabic.

From 2012-2014, Bishop Vines served as president of the National African American Fellowship of the Southern Baptist Convention, member of the Advisory Board for Ethics and Religious Liberty

Commission, Board Advisor member for Southeastern Center for Pastoral Leadership and Preaching Advisory Council Member for Convention Advisory Advancement, served as Chairman for the Southern Baptist Credential Committee; and served on the Southern Baptist Convention Committee on Committees.

In 2016, Bishop Vines established a Global Church Planting Ministry called New Seasons Church Global Network. On October 26, 2016, Bishop Vines was elected and he accepted the position of California Southern Baptist Convention President. On October 25, 2017, Bishop Vines was re-elected for a second term as California Southern Baptist Convention President.

On June 12, 2018, Bishop Vines was elected and humbly accepted the office of First Vice President of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Bishop Vines currently serves as trustee on the ERLC Trustee Board.

Bishop Vines studied at Point Loma, Andersonville Theological Seminary, and Southern California School of Ministry. He holds a Bachelor's degree in Psychology, a Master's degree in Pastoral Counseling, and a Doctorate of Ministry degree.

Bishop Vines and First Lady Karen Vines are the proud parents of five amazing children, grandparents to twelve grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

THE GERRI WARREN HUMANITARIAN AWARD

Mrs. Gerri Warren, the late publisher of the San Diego Voice & Viewpoint Newspaper, was, first, a lover of people. She used her visionary abilities and entrepreneurship to always give back to this community and she served it in many capacities. In her honor, this year's Humanitarian Award will go to the person who best embodies the spirit of Gerri Warren and her love of community. This is also a person that Gerri Warren admired and mentored as a student in our community who has come back to give even more.

GERRI WARREN HUMANITARIAN AWARD

Precious Jackson-Hubbard

• EDUCATOR

Growing up, Precious was a big sister to her cousins and later became affectionately known as "Momma" while teaching high school English at her Alma Mater, Lincoln High School. Upon graduating from Howard University with her BA and San Diego State University (SDSU) with her MS degree, Precious took a break from school to focus on her demanding career as an educator. For the past 16 years, she has dedicated herself to being the best mentor, mother, educator, and advocate for students. She recently went back to SDSU where she is working on her doctorate in Educational Leadership.

She is currently the principal of Bell Middle School in Paradise Hills where she works everyday to give students a quality and welcoming learning environment. She launched a pantry where families have daily access to non-perishable foods, clothing, toiletries and school supplies at no cost to them. She operates off the African Proverb, "It takes a village to raise a child."

She is a member of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, Inc., and the local chapters of the National Council of Negro Women (NCNW) and the National Association of the Advancement of Color People (NAACP). She is a tri-chair for the Birth of Brilliance conference and a board member for San Diego Youth Services.

Her love and passion for youth and their resilience motivates her each day. She believes everyone should be treated with humanity and respect. She believes love is the cure to so many problems and she credits her success to the many educators and community members who showed her love along the way.

She has received honors such as "Teacher of the Year"; "Outstanding African American Educator"; the Association of La Raza Educators "Educator of the Year"; and the Association of California School Administrators, "Middle School Administrator of the Year". She was recognized by community members as an "Unsung Hero" and she was inducted onto the Wall of Excellence in Lincoln Park.

She is a proud mother to 10-year-old Morgan and a wife to her husband Mario of 13 years. She enjoys taking long drives, hosting family game nights and listening to music.

This award goes to organizations on the front line of continuous service to our communities during this time of the COVID Pandemic crisis. Their services have been consistent and life-saving in all aspects.

ORGANIZATIONAL EXCELLENCE AWARD

Feeding San Diego

Feeding San Diego is a non-profit organization on a mission to end hunger through food rescue. Established in 2007, Feeding San Diego is the leading hunger-relief and food rescue organization in San Diego County and the only Feeding America affiliate in the region. Our organization provides more than 40.3 million meals every year to children, families, seniors, college students, military families, and veterans in partnership with a network of 292 local charities, schools, faith communities, meal sites, and food pantries. Last year, more than 70 percent of the food provided to the community was rescued from local and national food donors. By diverting high-quality food from the landfill and reducing greenhouse gas emissions, Feeding San Diego protects people and the planet. To get involved with Feeding San Diego and learn more about its mission, visit feedingsandiego.org. Get daily updates on social media at facebook.com/feedingsandiego, twitter.com/FeedingSanDiego or follow us on Instagram @feedingsandiego.

ORGANIZATIONAL EXCELLENCE AWARD

San Diego Food Bank

The Jacobs & Cushman San Diego Food Bank and our North County Food Bank chapter comprise the largest hunger-relief organization in San Diego County. Last year, the Food Bank distributed 63 million pounds of food, and the Food Bank serves, on average, 550,000 people per month in San Diego County.

Through our North County Food Bank chapter and by partnering with nearly 500 nonprofit partners with feeding programs, the Food Bank provides nutritious food to individuals and families in need in communities throughout San Diego County. Due to the efficiency of our operations and our large network of volunteers, 93% of donations go directly to feeding programs, and we are able to provide five meals for every dollar donated.

In addition to providing healthy nutrition, our mission includes advocating for the hungry and educating the public about hunger-related issues. We conduct research on food insecurity in San Diego County, including research on food-related bills and hunger solutions using local resources. We also inform the public on the continuing prevalence of hunger through our website, blog and social media posts, and media appearances.

As we grow as an organization, we adapt our programs to meet the ever-evolving needs of San Diego county through multilingual services, partnerships with local nonprofits, green initiatives, and mobile pantries that provide accessible food to all parts of the county. Among those we serve in tailored programs are seniors, low-income military families, children on school lunch programs, houseless people, and college students. One thing, however, remains certain: our dedication to providing nutritious food for people in need throughout the county.

Casey Castillo

As Interim CEO and Vice President of Administration and Chief Financial Officer, Casey provides oversight for all financial, administrative, human resource, and information technology operations. Casey brings more than fifteen years of nonprofit management, executive, and financial experience to the Food Bank. Prior to joining the Food Bank, Casey served on several nonprofit boards and committees. Most recently, Casey served on the Board of Directors for the El Futuro Credit Union, an organization that provides financial services for working families and those traditionally underserved by financial institutions. Casey's educational background includes a Bachelor's of Science Degree from Brigham Young University, and a Master's in Business Administration from California State University, San Bernardino. Casey is married with three children.
